A terrible truth is revealed.

Take Me to Synagogue

Author's Note:

If you're wondering what fresh hell this is, it's from the IT group chat, where I didn't thought Stozier was the ship name for Stanley and Hozier, and because I have nothing better to do with my life, I wrote this fic. None of the people mentioned belong to me. Also, I completely forgot to add that neither Stan or Richie are underage in this fic, and I really shouldn't have.

His eyes glittered with unshed tears as he stared at him in the warm light of the lamp.

'But-' he croaked, his voice failing him for the first time, 'I don't understand - what do you mean?'

Stan sighed, heavy as the wind upon gravestones.

'I said I'm leaving you, Richie.'

Oh. So he hadn't misheard him.

Richie felt his knees give way, slipping to the carpet as the tears began to fall. His heart spasmed and clawed within him.

'Is it - is it - because of him?'

He couldn't say his name. The name that haunted him for weeks, crawling into his mind and making him lie awake for hours, hoping, daring, begging it wouldn't be true.

But from the way Stan's face shifted into a mask of unease, he knew it was.

'Yes,' Stan said quietly, 'It's Hozier.'

Hozier. Winner of the Billboard music award, the Teen Choice awards and BBC International Artist of the Year.

And winner of Stan's heart.

As Richie's world crumpled around him, he looked up, heartbroken and pleading towards Stan.

'Why?' he sobbed, 'Why?'

Stan swallowed. When he spoke, his voice was barely above a whisper.

'He takes me to synagogue.'

Author's Note:

I wrote this in about five minutes and I was laughing the entire time. Everyone in the cursed IT group chat are legends and i love them all.
